district deputy game wardens, composed of twenty-five men. We have twenty-three counties, and there are two in two of the counties and one in each of the others. Will you boys rise, please?

(The twenty-five deputy game wardens rose and were greeted with applause.)

The Chairman: The fine appearance of these men is better than any paper that could be presented on the benefits and advantages of uniformed game wardens.

(Adjournment for luncheon.)

FOURTH SESSION

Tuesday afternoon

The meeting resumed at 2.30 P. M.

The Chairman: Before we continue with the papers and discussions I think we should have reports from the committees. The first will be the report of the Resolutions Committee, of which Judge Miles is chairman.

We express our appreciation for the many courtesies and services rendered this Association by the Baltimore Association of Commerce and its splendid cooperation in making this meeting one of the outstanding features of the convention. We especially express our appreciation to Mr. Henry J. Moehlman and his corps of able assistants.

The International Association desires to express its highest appreciation and acknowledgment of the many courtesies extended during this convention on the part of the Department of Conservation of the state of Maryland, and to congratulate the state of Maryland upon its ability to have in charge of conservation activities men whose character and abilities in the prosecution of a constructive wild-life program are recognized throughout the nation. The hospitality extended by the Maryland Conservation Department and its very able executive secretary, Mr. E. Lee LeCompte, has been more than generous and has contributed to a very marked degree to the success of this meeting and to the enjoyment of all its members in attendance.

It is with deep appreciation that we record our commendation of the Baltimore Press for their whole-hearted cooperation in giving valuable publicity to the proceedings of the convention.

Special acknowledgment is due the management of the Lord Baltimore Hotel for the splendid manner in which every need for the success of this convention and the comfort of its members has been anticipated and fulfilled. Quite no small part of the credit for the success of this meeting and the pleasure and comfort of its delegates is due to the courteous, homelike hospitality and perfect appointments of the hotel in meeting every requirement of the convention.
